

-
- This topographic map depicts a hilly region with numerous contour lines indicating elevation. A prominent green dotted line winds across the landscape, likely representing a trail or a specific boundary. Several areas are highlighted with green hatching, possibly indicating forested or protected land. A red hatched area is visible near the bottom center. The map includes labels for various locations, including Poggia Galvane, Monte Torrenera, and Monte del Poggio. A river or stream is shown in the bottom right corner, flowing towards the bottom right. The map also shows various roads, some marked with numbers, and several small settlements or farmsteads.